

Before acquiring any bird(s) from Anita Golden, I have read and agree to the following guarantee:

Guarantee on Weaned Birds: Provided you quarantine any birds you purchase from me, and maintain them in a reasonable manner, the following guarantee will be honored:

You must take the bird to a vet (at your expense) within 48 hours of purchase. If a life-threatening problem is found, and one that is determined to have been in existence before purchase, return the bird promptly with the vet's report, and I will be happy to refund your money or replace the bird if a comparable bird is available. If there are no comparable birds available, you will be given a refund. I will not be responsible for any veterinarian bills incurred, whether for diagnosis or treatment.

This is the ONLY guarantee I offer, so please be sure to check your bird over carefully before purchase. I enter into any transaction in good faith and knowing that the bird has been healthy while in my care. However, you have to realize that there is always a risk involved when dealing with live animals.

Guarantee on UNWEANED Birds: Because of the risks involved in handfeeding, I will honor NO guarantee whatsoever on birds sold that are not weaned. There are too many variables, and it is always a possibility that an unweaned bird may become suddenly ill and/or die, regardless of the experience of the handfeeder. The money saved in buying an unweaned bird should be carefully weighed against the risk on the buyer's part.
